

THE WONDERFUL FRUIT MEDICINE

"Fruit-a-tives" Is the Only Remedy Made From Fruit Juices

MARVELOUS RESULTS

The fact that "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made from fruit juices — that it is entirely different from any other preparation for the treatment of disease — is the one big reason why so many people are willing to give it a fair trial. They have used dozens of other treatments for Constipation, Liver and Kidney Trouble, Headaches, Rheumatism and Neuralgia, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Lack of Appetite, Poor Blood, Skin Diseases and run-down condition of the system. They realize that they must have something different from the ordinary remedies in order to cure themselves.

"Fruit-a-tives" is different. It is the discovery of a physician, who — after long experiments — succeeded in transforming the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes into an entirely new compound. By combining these intensified fruit juices with tonics and antiseptics, he created a new substance, which had all the medicinal properties of fresh fruit, but in a more efficient form. There can be no substitute for "Fruit-a-tives" because "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine made from fruit juices.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or from FRUIT-A-TIVES Limited, OGDENSBURG, N. Y.

TELEPHONES STOP IN MEMORY OF BELL

There was a suspension of service on all local telephones Friday night at 6:25 o'clock standard time in memory of Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, who died Wednesday at his summer home in Canada. The suspension of service on all local lines was in conjunction with a similar observance in all other cities of the country and Canada.

Every year 134,000 babies are born in New York city.

Wallace Reid in the Paramount Picture
"FOREVER"
A George Fitzmaurice Production
At the BROAD THEATRE, SUNDAY, MONDAY, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY.

KIMBALL'S TEXTILE SHOP

A Pleasant Objective for an Afternoon Ride.

IRISH AND ITALIAN LINENS
of exquisite quality.
CRETONNES — RUGS
GIFTS — SILK HOSIERY
And a Delightful Place to Have Tea.

342 Washington Street
Near Backus Hospital
PHONE 700

Falls Mills

Will Start Up
Monday, August 7th

A. C. Brown, Agent

SPECIAL

Keen Kutter $1.00
Safety Razors 85c
Keen Kutter Pocket Knives,
new line, 50c, 75c, $1.00
CONSERVO, for Steam
Cooking and Preserving
Large Enamel Preserve Pans

THE HOUSEHOLD

BULLETIN BUILDING
74 FRANKLIN STREET
TELEPHONE 531-4

1796 1922

VARIOUS MATTERS

Light vehicle lamps at 7:32 o'clock (standard time) this evening.

Tomorrow, August 6th is the Feast of the Transfiguration of our Lord. By tomorrow (Sunday) the length of the day will have decreased an even hour.

The office of Dr. Emma Dunham will open Aug. 7—adv.

The beautiful hedge of shrub hydrangeas at the Elks' home is beginning to blossom.

Zinnias, marigolds, four-o'clocks and other hardy flowers are particularly stocky and prolific this season.

In past years Phoenix Liberty band of Stafford has been engaged to play for Old Home day at Wales today, Aug. 5th.

Some of the largest and most beautiful gold-band lilies in this section have been given by Mrs. Latham A. Smith of Gales Ferry.

Tea-houses at the D. A. R. museum this (Saturday) afternoon will be at Irving N. Gifford and Mrs. Owen S. Smith.

Norwich Grange picnic at Happyland Park, Tuesday, Aug. 8—adv.

Friday had unmistakable dog day characteristics, but was cool for the season, the mercury standing not much above 70 degrees.

Game wardens are announcing that the law requiring non-resident fishermen to obtain a Connecticut fishing license will be strictly enforced. The license fee is $1.

Rev. Jerome Greer is having a vacation during August, and the pulpit of Myrtle Methodist Episcopal church will be occupied next Sunday by Rev. O. G. Buddington.

The blinds have been hung on the new Y. M. C. A. building on Main street, so that now it is possible to judge how attractive the structure will be when completed.

Stamped novelties for summer work. Friendship cards at Woman's Exchange—adv.

A correspondent notes that Miss Dorothy Bowen of Eastford has been spending the summer at the home of her parents, George and Wendell Bosworth, in East Woodstock.

Nearly 1,000 insured parcel post packages were handled by the two stamp clerks at Norwich postoffice, Joseph E. Burns and Harry L. MacDougall, within the past 10 days.

Flash sale today: Mackerel 2 pounds for 25c, 11 Perry St., opposite old stand, Church Bros.—adv.

It is mentioned by the Stomington Mirror that Miss Lilla Millett, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. John C. Gallup at Wales, has returned home, has returned to Moomin.

Professor of Horticulture Stephen Fletcher of Pennsylvania State college, Mrs. Fletcher and their children, motoring through Connecticut, were recent guests of Messrs. Wallace and Childs at Lord's Point.

Vacation special, 35c tooth brush for 21c, two for 35c. The Lee and Osgood Co.—adv.

Having the main office of the American Thermos Bottle company located in Norwich, where the company's factory is, has been adding appreciably to the business of Postmaster John P. Murphy and his force of clerks.

Coming to Hampton, Miss Adeline Babcock sailed from Havre, France, Aug. 4, and will arrive in New York Aug. 10. Her mother, Mrs. Corliss Babcock, will leave Hampton for New York this week to meet her daughter.

The grass and weeds on the terraces back of the Crawford block were cut Friday, making a "crisp" which required several motor trucks to carry away.

Big ripe watermelons were selling at 35c in Norwich Friday.

The greatest cleanup sale of furniture and furnishings now going on at Schwartz Bros., 3-11 Water street—adv.

At Hamburg, the district nurse committee has announced that the drive under way is to raise money for the salary of the district nurse only, and that the town has no share in the running expenses and equipment.

The United States civil service commission will hold an examination for maintenance men Aug. 10. There is a vacancy in the United States Marine hospital, Hudson street, New York, at $1,000 a year salary of $1,000 a month and lunch.

Charles Bouton of Norfolk has just completed a boat of F. J. Worth of Port Jefferson, L. I. to be used by Mr. Worth for fishing and dragging. It has been named Barbara II and is 24 feet long, 11 feet wide and has a draught of five feet and three inches.

Plenty heavy lobsters, shrimp, sea, native sword and mackerel, clearance sale every Saturday evening after 5 P. M., at Powers Bros., 77 Franklin st.—adv.

State silk manufacturers say that crepe continue to have the bulk of the business, and that demand for crepe in market appears unquestioned. Considerable business has been done in chamoise and there has been a slight improvement in yarn dyed satins.

In connection with the leasing for August of the Neptune Park cottages at Mrs. Charles M. Hutzler by Charles Brickley, old-time Harvard football star, it is recalled that the late Mrs. Bertha Goethe of Norwich had occupied her cottage for 14 seasons.

The styling of the fabric glove has been improved, according to dealers, and there have been devised new and snappy trimmings which are expected to prove very attractive. The leading types are the strap wrist, the two clasp and the long glove in sand and beaver shades.

Our Saturday special, Long Island blue fish lb. 25c, Black Island sword, lb. 35c, lobsters 35c, crabs 35c, dog, little neck clams 25c ct., round clams 25c ct., Broadway Fish Mkt. 40 Broadway—adv.

Tomorrow (Sunday) is the communion day for the members of the Immaculate Conception and Holy Angels Societies of St. Patrick's church, who, on the first Sunday of each month, occupy the pews of the middle aisle at the 7:40 mass, receiving holy communion in a body.

The new road on the east side of the Connecticut river is being used by Hartford and Massachusetts motorists coming to Sound View. Aside from the scenic attractions on the way, tourists are avoiding the toll bridge, the one unpopular institution associated with Sound View.

The greatest cleanup sale of furniture and furnishings now going on at Schwartz Bros., 3-11 Water street—adv.

On the 92d birthday Friday David Hale Fanning of Worcester wrote Norwich friends in connection with the death of Prof. Bell, telephone inventor, that 30 years ago the first line was put into his office as an experiment, and that with somebody out of town was considered a wonderful thing.

A month or more ago Harold Bugbee of West Willington missed the numbers from one of his cars, and a short time since was notified that the state police at Hartford had received from the state police of Arizona the query: "What is Harold Bugbee of Willington, your state, doing in Arizona?"

Hartford.—From 100 to 200 children of Hartford are now employed on the tobacco farms within a short distance of the city at wages ranging from $1 to $1.50 a day.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Joseph P. Cummings and children are at Pleasant View.

Mrs. Abbie O'Brien of Windsor is visiting with friends in Stonington.

Miss Nellie Inett of North Cliff street is spending her vacation at Watch Hill, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Whittlesey of New London left Wednesday on a trip to Maine.

Mrs. Charles Reed Gilbert is leaving New London shortly to make her home in Norwich.

Jerry Sullivan of Uncasville, a patient at the Backus hospital, is improving daily.

James Valintio of New Britain is spending the week end with friends at the State Hospital.

Jerry Sullivan of Uncasville is improving at Backus hospital, Norwich, after a recent surgical operation.

Miss Kate Hoye of Back Bay is the guest of her niece Mrs. Walter Spelly of West Thames street.

Miss Agnes Sullivan of New Bedford is spending the week end with her grandfather, D. Sullivan of Uncasville.

Miss Elizabeth Underwood of Minneapolis, Minn., is making a brief visit with Rev. George C. Pollock and family of 30 Spaulding street.

Miss Betty Ehrenberg of Brooklyn, N. Y., is spending two weeks' vacation with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ehrenberg of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Beckley and three children of Buffalo are motoring to Norwich for a visit with Mr. Beckley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Beckley, of Lincoln avenue.

Miss Ruth McGarry, secretary to President Benjamin T. Marshall of Connecticut college, leaves Saturday on her annual month's vacation, which will consist of visits to Greenwich and Philadelphia and a trip through the Berkshires with Miss Mildred Fagan, a graduate of the college, class of 1920.

Secretary to Medford, New London, secretary to Benjamin T. Marshall of Connecticut college, leaves today (Saturday) for a month's vacation which will consist of visits to Greenwich and Philadelphia and a trip through the Berkshires with Miss Mildred Fagan, a graduate of the college, class of 1920.

Stamped novelties for summer work. Friendship cards at Woman's Exchange—adv.

A correspondent notes that Miss Dorothy Bowen of Eastford has been spending the summer at the home of her parents, George and Wendell Bosworth, in East Woodstock.

Nearly 1,000 insured parcel post packages were handled by the two stamp clerks at Norwich postoffice, Joseph E. Burns and Harry L. MacDougall, within the past 10 days.

Flash sale today: Mackerel 2 pounds for 25c, 11 Perry St., opposite old stand, Church Bros.—adv.

It is mentioned by the Stomington Mirror that Miss Lilla Millett, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. John C. Gallup at Wales, has returned home, has returned to Moomin.

Professor of Horticulture Stephen Fletcher of Pennsylvania State college, Mrs. Fletcher and their children, motoring through Connecticut, were recent guests of Messrs. Wallace and Childs at Lord's Point.

Vacation special, 35c tooth brush for 21c, two for 35c. The Lee and Osgood Co.—adv.

Having the main office of the American Thermos Bottle company located in Norwich, where the company's factory is, has been adding appreciably to the business of Postmaster John P. Murphy and his force of clerks.

Coming to Hampton, Miss Adeline Babcock sailed from Havre, France, Aug. 4, and will arrive in New York Aug. 10. Her mother, Mrs. Corliss Babcock, will leave Hampton for New York this week to meet her daughter.

The grass and weeds on the terraces back of the Crawford block were cut Friday, making a "crisp" which required several motor trucks to carry away.

Big ripe watermelons were selling at 35c in Norwich Friday.

The greatest cleanup sale of furniture and furnishings now going on at Schwartz Bros., 3-11 Water street—adv.

At Hamburg, the district nurse committee has announced that the drive under way is to raise money for the salary of the district nurse only, and that the town has no share in the running expenses and equipment.

The United States civil service commission will hold an examination for maintenance men Aug. 10. There is a vacancy in the United States Marine hospital, Hudson street, New York, at $1,000 a year salary of $1,000 a month and lunch.

Charles Bouton of Norfolk has just completed a boat of F. J. Worth of Port Jefferson, L. I. to be used by Mr. Worth for fishing and dragging. It has been named Barbara II and is 24 feet long, 11 feet wide and has a draught of five feet and three inches.

Plenty heavy lobsters, shrimp, sea, native sword and mackerel, clearance sale every Saturday evening after 5 P. M., at Powers Bros., 77 Franklin st.—adv.

State silk manufacturers say that crepe continue to have the bulk of the business, and that demand for crepe in market appears unquestioned. Considerable business has been done in chamoise and there has been a slight improvement in yarn dyed satins.

In connection with the leasing for August of the Neptune Park cottages at Mrs. Charles M. Hutzler by Charles Brickley, old-time Harvard football star, it is recalled that the late Mrs. Bertha Goethe of Norwich had occupied her cottage for 14 seasons.

The styling of the fabric glove has been improved, according to dealers, and there have been devised new and snappy trimmings which are expected to prove very attractive. The leading types are the strap wrist, the two clasp and the long glove in sand and beaver shades.

Our Saturday special, Long Island blue fish lb. 25c, Black Island sword, lb. 35c, lobsters 35c, crabs 35c, dog, little neck clams 25c ct., round clams 25c ct., Broadway Fish Mkt. 40 Broadway—adv.

Tomorrow (Sunday) is the communion day for the members of the Immaculate Conception and Holy Angels Societies of St. Patrick's church, who, on the first Sunday of each month, occupy the pews of the middle aisle at the 7:40 mass, receiving holy communion in a body.

The new road on the east side of the Connecticut river is being used by Hartford and Massachusetts motorists coming to Sound View. Aside from the scenic attractions on the way, tourists are avoiding the toll bridge, the one unpopular institution associated with Sound View.

The greatest cleanup sale of furniture and furnishings now going on at Schwartz Bros., 3-11 Water street—adv.

On the 92d birthday Friday David Hale Fanning of Worcester wrote Norwich friends in connection with the death of Prof. Bell, telephone inventor, that 30 years ago the first line was put into his office as an experiment, and that with somebody out of town was considered a wonderful thing.

A month or more ago Harold Bugbee of West Willington missed the numbers from one of his cars, and a short time since was notified that the state police at Hartford had received from the state police of Arizona the query: "What is Harold Bugbee of Willington, your state, doing in Arizona?"

Hartford.—From 100 to 200 children of Hartford are now employed on the tobacco farms within a short distance of the city at wages ranging from $1 to $1.50 a day.

TELS OF VISIT TO WOOD CHATEAU-THIERRY

It was a delightful trip, one that shall always be remembered, was the remark of Charles D. Noyes, president of the Bulletin Company, upon his arrival here after a trip of six weeks to many points of interest in England, France, Italy, and Switzerland. Of all the trips he took, however, the one that impressed him most was our two days' trip over the battlefields of the World war.

Our party, which comprised my son, Charles F. Noyes, daughter Lorna, Miss Elizabeth Sheldahl of Brooklyn and myself, left New York on July 17 on the steamship Lapland, and had a smooth passage over and arrived at Plymouth, England on the 25th, immediately going by rail to London where we stopped at the Grosvenor hotel. We were there four days, and with one of Cook men covered many points of historical interest in the region of London, among them being the tower of London, Windsor castle, St. Paul's cathedral and Westminster abbey. While in London, the funeral of Sir Henry Wilson was held, burial being in St. Paul's cathedral, and we, with 100,000 others, witnessed this impressive service, which was attended by distinguished persons from many countries.

Flow Over to Paris.

On July 1st we went to the aviation field and two and one-half hours later had covered 225 miles and were on the outskirts of Paris. We took the trip by airplane at the rate of 90 miles an hour.

We had three days in Paris and vicinity and two days on the battlefields. From our headquarters in the Continental hotel we took sightseeing trips to Notre Dame, Eiffel tower and Napoleon's tomb, and went out to Malmesbury where we visited the home of Napoleon, where he spent the happiest years of his life. We then took sightseeing trips to the battlefields of the World war.

The trip to the battlefields covering July 5 and 6th was perhaps the most impressive of all the trips taken during our tour. We left Paris on the morning of the fifth and at 11 o'clock reached the house where General Joffre issued his famous orders. The Germans shall not pass. Only two miles on, less than 20 miles from Paris, we reached the point where the German advance was halted, and the nearest point to Paris during the World war. Here is where the French blew up the bridges over the Marne, and the German advance was halted. There was no evidence of war at this point.

Continuing on our way we came to the place where American troops were first killed before advancing into Belleau Wood. We passed through Meaux, twice taken by the Germans in 1914, and continued on to Torchy. Evidence of war was noticed before reaching this point. In the woods we saw the ruins of buildings being seen. Leaving Torchy we entered Belleau Wood now known as "Wood of the American Marine Brigade."

In honor of the two regiments of the 2nd and 3rd Marine Divisions, which were killed in the woods in 1918, after severe fighting. Next came Bourges and Vaux, torn to pieces by American shells during the war.

We saw the ruins of the second battle of the Marne, the American troops raked the river and bridges continuously for four days and nights.

An American Cemetery

Not far from here was the first American cemetery, and, as we were filled with pride at seeing the flag of our country flying for the first time in many days. The cemetery was well taken care of and the graves were visited by the French.

Here the devastation of war was very much in evidence, ruins were on all sides of us. Evidence of reclamation work was seen here, the fields being under cultivation. The damage was great and has not been made good. We continued through ruined villages, some of which were totally destroyed, others not fully destroyed, and everywhere work of reclamation was slowly progressing.

Soon we came to the great American cemetery at Oise-Aisne. Old Glory was flying from the top of the hill, and the grounds were well kept by the caretaker in charge and flowers were in bloom. Here we met a party of forty Americans all visiting this cemetery.

At Sorget-Maj. Fletcher's Grave

We inquired of the caretaker if Sergeant Major Fletcher was buried here, and he said that he was, and escorted us to the grave. Other Americans going to the grave were seen, and the caretaker bowed his head in honor of this fine American boy who made the supreme sacrifice.

The cemetery was located in the midst of a beautiful country, fine farming land, and the graves were well kept. We were told that 1,700 American boys were sleeping in this cemetery, and that plans are being made to bury them until 4,000 will be buried. The caretaker said that the damage was great and has not been made good. We continued through ruined villages, some of which were totally destroyed, others not fully destroyed, and everywhere work of reclamation was slowly progressing.

Soon we came to the great American cemetery at Oise-Aisne. Old Glory was flying from the top of the hill, and the grounds were well kept by the caretaker in charge and flowers were in bloom. Here we met a party of forty Americans all visiting this cemetery.

At Sorget-Maj. Fletcher's Grave

We inquired of the caretaker if Sergeant Major Fletcher was buried here, and he said that he was, and escorted us to the grave. Other Americans going to the grave were seen, and the caretaker bowed his head in honor of this fine American boy who made the supreme sacrifice.

The cemetery was located in the midst of a beautiful country, fine farming land, and the graves were well kept. We were told that 1,700 American boys were sleeping in this cemetery, and that plans are being made to bury them until 4,000 will be buried. The caretaker said that the damage was great and has not been made good. We continued through ruined villages, some of which were totally destroyed, others not fully destroyed, and everywhere work of reclamation was slowly progressing.

Soon we came to the great American cemetery at Oise-Aisne. Old Glory was flying from the top of the hill, and the grounds were well kept by the caretaker in charge and flowers were in bloom. Here we met a party of forty Americans all visiting this cemetery.

At Sorget-Maj. Fletcher's Grave

We inquired of the caretaker if Sergeant Major Fletcher was buried here, and he said that he was, and escorted us to the grave. Other Americans going to the grave were seen, and the caretaker bowed his head in honor of this fine American boy who made the supreme sacrifice.

The cemetery was located in the midst of a beautiful country, fine farming land, and the graves were well kept. We were told that 1,700 American boys were sleeping in this cemetery, and that plans are being made to bury them until 4,000 will be buried. The caretaker said that the damage was great and has not been made good. We continued through ruined villages, some of which were totally destroyed, others not fully destroyed, and everywhere work of reclamation was slowly progressing.

Soon we came to the great American cemetery at Oise-Aisne. Old Glory was flying from the top of the hill, and the grounds were well kept by the caretaker in charge and flowers were in bloom. Here we met a party of forty Americans all visiting this cemetery.

At Sorget-Maj. Fletcher's Grave

We inquired of the caretaker if Sergeant Major Fletcher was buried here, and he said that he was, and escorted us to the grave. Other Americans going to the grave were seen, and the caretaker bowed his head in honor of this fine American boy who made the supreme sacrifice.

The cemetery was located in the midst of a beautiful country, fine farming land, and the graves were well kept. We were told that 1,700 American boys were sleeping in this cemetery, and that plans are being made to bury them until 4,000 will be buried. The caretaker said that the damage was great and has not been made good. We continued through ruined villages, some of which were totally destroyed, others not fully destroyed, and everywhere work of reclamation was slowly progressing.

Soon we came to the great American cemetery at Oise-Aisne. Old Glory was flying from the top of the hill, and the grounds were well kept by the caretaker in charge and flowers were in bloom. Here we met a party of forty Americans all visiting this cemetery.

At Sorget-Maj. Fletcher's Grave

We inquired of the caretaker if Sergeant Major Fletcher was buried here, and he said that he was, and escorted us to the grave. Other Americans going to the grave were seen, and the caretaker bowed his head in honor of this fine American boy who made the supreme sacrifice.

The cemetery was located in the midst of a beautiful country, fine farming land, and the graves were well kept. We were told that 1,700 American boys were sleeping in this cemetery, and that plans are being made to bury them until 4,000 will be buried. The caretaker said that the damage was great and has not been made good. We continued through ruined villages, some of which were totally destroyed, others not fully destroyed, and everywhere work of reclamation was slowly progressing.

Soon we came to the great American cemetery at Oise-Aisne. Old Glory was flying from the top of the hill, and the grounds were well kept by the caretaker in charge and flowers were in bloom. Here we met a party of forty Americans all visiting this cemetery.

At Sorget-Maj. Fletcher's Grave

We inquired of the caretaker if Sergeant Major Fletcher was buried here, and he said that he was, and escorted us to the grave. Other Americans going to the grave were seen, and the caretaker bowed his head in honor of this fine American boy who made the supreme sacrifice.

The cemetery was located in the midst of a beautiful country, fine farming land, and the graves were well kept. We were told that 1,700 American boys were sleeping in this cemetery, and that plans are being made to bury them until 4,000 will be buried. The caretaker said that the damage was great and has not been made good. We continued through ruined villages, some of which were totally destroyed, others not fully destroyed, and everywhere work of reclamation was slowly progressing.

Soon we came to the great American cemetery at Oise-Aisne. Old Glory was flying from the top of the hill, and the grounds were well kept by the caretaker in charge and flowers were in bloom. Here we met a party of forty Americans all visiting this cemetery.

At Sorget-Maj. Fletcher's Grave

We inquired of the caretaker if Sergeant Major Fletcher was buried here, and he said that he was, and escorted us to the grave. Other Americans going to the grave were seen, and the caretaker bowed his head in honor of this fine American boy who made the supreme sacrifice.

The cemetery was located in the midst of a beautiful country, fine farming land, and the graves were well kept. We were told that 1,700 American boys were sleeping in this cemetery, and that plans are being made to bury them until 4,000 will be buried. The caretaker said that the damage was great and has not been made good. We continued through ruined villages, some of which were totally destroyed, others not fully destroyed, and everywhere work of reclamation was slowly progressing.

Soon we came to the great American cemetery at Oise-Aisne. Old Glory was flying from the top of the hill, and the grounds were well kept by the caretaker in charge and flowers were in bloom. Here we met a party of forty Americans all visiting this cemetery.

At Sorget-Maj. Fletcher's Grave

We inquired of the caretaker if Sergeant Major Fletcher was buried here, and he said that he was, and escorted us to the grave. Other Americans going to the grave were seen, and the caretaker bowed his head in honor of this fine American boy who made the supreme sacrifice.

The cemetery was located in the midst of a beautiful country, fine farming land, and the graves were well kept. We were told that 1,700 American boys were sleeping in this cemetery, and that plans are being made to bury them until 4,000 will be buried. The caretaker said that the damage was great and has not been made good. We continued through ruined villages, some of which were totally destroyed, others not fully destroyed, and everywhere work of reclamation was slowly progressing.

Soon we came to the great American cemetery at Oise-Aisne. Old Glory was flying from the top of the hill, and the grounds were well kept by the caretaker in charge and flowers were in bloom. Here we met a party of forty Americans all visiting this cemetery.

At Sorget-Maj. Fletcher's Grave

We inquired of the caretaker if Sergeant Major Fletcher was buried here, and he said that he was, and escorted us to the grave. Other Americans going to the grave were seen, and the caretaker bowed his head in honor of this fine American boy who made the supreme sacrifice.

The cemetery was located in the midst of a beautiful country, fine farming land, and the graves were well kept. We were told that 1,700 American boys were sleeping in this cemetery, and that plans are being made to bury them until 4,000 will be buried. The caretaker said that the damage was great and has not been made good. We continued through ruined villages, some of which were totally destroyed, others not fully destroyed, and everywhere work of reclamation was slowly progressing.

</